Miscellaneous Paragraphs

The railroad from Dalles to Celilo has been finished [illegible] Mile Creek

On the 10th day of this month it rained all over California but not in Utah or Nevada Territories. This was reported by telegraph

Archbishop Allemany of San Francisco, has received a letter from Tuam, Ireland, acknowledging the receipt of $8 100 from California for the relief of the suffering poor of Ireland

Many rebel sympathizers are selling out their property in California with a view to remove to Mexico They had better wait until they see whether the Confederacy can be subjugated or not.

Missouri will probably accept the proposition to emancipate her slaves on the compensation principle Gov Gamble says it costs more to keep the 50 000 troops in that State every month than it would to buy every loyalist's negro in it

The Common Council of the city of New York offered to present Gen Nelson Taylor with an elegant sword He thinks they had better give the money to buy wooden legs for crippled soldiers We expect to hear a good account of so sensible an officer as Gen Taylor

The agent for the underwriters, who insured the treasure on board of the Golden Gate, reports that no part of the treasure will be recovered The natives had picked up $300 000 in coin, which came ashore in boxes. But few fragments of the ship remain

The Confederates took possession of the salt works of Kanawa, some months since. There was at that time great scarcity of salt in the Confederacy, and it was impossible to cure meat enough for their troops From the movements of Burnside it appears as if they will need all the salt of Kanawa to save their bacon

Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, is about to write a pamphlet exposing the intentions of the Peace Congress that met at Washington just before the war broke out It is not necessary that this should be done, as the members have shown what the spirit of that convention was, by their conduct since its adjournment most of them are now open traitors or sympathizers with secession. They were of the class who were in favor of the Union as they wanted it to be

A LIE NAILED —The Marysville Express has [illegible] Wade [illegible] is a traitor ' The Appeal quotes the official record of the 15th of April last to show what Mr Wade really did say This is it

Sir, the man who invokes the Constitution in forbearance of the law to punish traitors, is himself a sympathizer There never was a man yet who stood up in this Senate, from the time when Mr. Breckinridge preached daily in favor of constitutional guarantees until now, and set up constitutional barriers against punishment for treason, but what is in his innermost heart of hearts a traitor I do not want to hear any more of a man than that he is invoking the forbearance of the Constitution and the great barriers in favor of American liberty to protect an infernal traitor in his course to know that he is a sympathizer.

No doubt, many other of the reported obnoxious sayings of the Unionists are equally as truthful as the lies about Wade, but stories of that kind are manufactured so fast that it does not pay loyal men to disprove them "A lie will travel a league while Truth is putting on his boots"

COUNTERFEITS —A late number of the Echo du Pacifique contains the following, which may serve to detect the counterfeit Legal Tender Notes said to be in circulation

The fives are being extensively counterfeited and being good imitations are most dangerous. On the genuine bill at the base of the Capitol on which stands the figure of America, we read part of the motto "E Pluribus Unum. On the genuine bill, the following letters appear " Uribus Unum. On the counterfeit all that appears is, " Iribus Unum " the left part of the U being omitted. On the back of the note in the genuine bills are the words "Of America," the letters having a white shade. In the counterfeit there is an absence of this shade. The general color of the counterfeits is lighter than the genuine.

The counterfeit tens are easily recognized from their imperfect execution. The female figure, which is on the right of the [illegible] has five toes on the left foot and four on the right. In the true bill four toes are shown on the left foot and five on the right. The eagle, which is in the centre, has no [illegible] at the back of the foot as in the genuine bill.

In the twenty's the picture of the woman, which is in the centre, has a star on the left arm with five points. The star in the genuine bill has six points. The little oval in the [illegible] of the woman has an S in a [illegible]. The true bills are without this mark. The letters of the word "[illegible]" are [illegible] and are larger than in the genuine bills.

The 50s, 100s, 500s and 1000s can be distinguished by the [illegible] and signature of the [illegible] F Spinner. The backs of the counterfeits of these denominations have all the peculiarities already described in the fives.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

No flag but the Old Flag,—the Red, White and Blue
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] must save

MONDAY MORNING, DEC. 22, 1862

Inconsistencies of the Partisan Press.

The bitterness of partisan strife [illegible] led [illegible] purely political papers into the expression of gross inconsistencies. Horace Greeley promised "three times three hundred thousand men" to the armies of the Union, if Mr. Lincoln would adopt his plan of carrying on the war. These dormant warriors, he asserted, would "leap like flaming giants into the struggle." Mr. Greeley's policy was adopted, and, if he had told the truth, his nine hundred thousand flaming giants should have sustained the President in his policy in the late elections, previous to marching Southward to subjugate, rebel [illegible] and extirpate rebels. A rival of Mr. Greeley's says that the Tribune philosopher represented this phalanx of giants as being at home waiting for developments, before the elections, but after the elections he says they are in the army, and thus accounts for the political defeat of the Administration.

The Democrats on the other hand say that the Abolitionists are worse than the Secessionists, and more to blame for the hostilities now going on. Yet, these same Democrats claim to be a large majority of the Union [illegible]. A portion of their party presses denounce the war, and at the same time say that they are in favor of the "vigorous prosecution" of "an unjust and unholy Abolition war" against our Southern brethren. Mr. Lincoln is denounced for not pushing hostilities with more energy, and Gen. McClellan is defended for not displaying any energy at all. Gen. Pope is said to be too energetic, and Gen. Grant wants to fight too much. The Louisville Journal thanks that Gen. Buel ought to have bagged Bragg, and then protests against his removal after he had failed to do it. Gen. Wadsworth ought to be elected Governor of New York, because he was a General in the army; Gen. Devens should not be elected Governor of Massachusetts for just the same reason. [illegible] at the beginning of the war, now denounce them as "Imps of hell," "Secession fiends," and other like fraternal epithets. On the contrary, we have instances of papers being very hostile to Secessionists two years ago, that are now calling the seceding States "Erring Sisters."

The truth is that, the people of the loyal States suffer themselves to be imposed upon by politicians. They are induced to believe that this war is for political purposes, when it is waged solely for the preservation of the Union. They allow themselves to think that they can carry on a successful war against a band of conspirators, and indulge in a free political fight at home. They continually flatter themselves that there is a large Union element in the South, which only needs encouragement to become the controlling power, when, in fact, such is not the case, and the rebels will only return to the Union when they become satisfied that independence is impossible, and that destruction is the certain consequence of the war, if it is prolonged. Rejecting the proverb, "A cat in gloves catches no mice," the Unionists have made war with gloves on, forgetting that war only answers the purpose when it is terrible, they have smoothed down its rugged front until it is not unpleasant to the hardy bands of the Confederate armies. Above all, they have persistently shut their eyes to the military capabilities of the Southrons and their advantages of position.

At last, it appears as if we have generals for the times—men who, like Col. Baker, believe in "open, forward, aggressive war."—Grant, who has "moved upon their works," Burnside who is doing it, and Rosecrans who hunts the enemy to his lair. These men may fail, but they will at least try, and will not be driven from their purpose by the stay-at-home generals.

CAN'T BELIEVE IT.—The Mountaineer of a recent date contains a letter from a citizen of Dalles, connected with Gen. McClellan's staff at the time of the battle of Antietam, of which the following is an excerpt: "Our old Oregonian, Hooker, is very ambitious, and looks to no second place in rank. He is disposed to be against McClellan, notwithstanding the ever constant friendship of the latter. The trouble is that all the Generals is selfish as h—l, even to rule or ruin, each trying to push himself up at all hazards."—We must except to the statement that Gen. Hooker is as selfish as h—l. Great faults he certainly has, but selfishness, meanness or ingratitude we cannot believe are among them. If Gen. McClellan was ever the constant friend of Hooker, the latter gentleman never could have tried to pull him down, that he himself, might rise. He is too brave and frank a man to enter into intrigues against his superiors.

SICKNESS AT AUBURN.—The Auburn correspondent of the Mountaineer speaks of much sickness prevailing at that place. Coughs, colds, scarlet and bilious fevers, mountain fever and scurvy, are among the complaints with which the people are afflicted.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to Dec. 14th.

Great Battle and [illegible] — [illegible] — Wade Hampton [illegible] — [illegible]

NEW YORK, Dec. [illegible].—The intelligence from [illegible] 12th [illegible] the [illegible] on the Occoquan, halfway [illegible] Washington [illegible] cut the telegraph wires and [illegible] a number of operators. [illegible] caused the interruption of news. Communication is now restored and Sigel's corps is [illegible]. Hampton's retreat [illegible] success.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Dec. [illegible].—The battle [illegible] is now progressing. [illegible] advanced and engaged the enemy at [illegible]. A few minutes afterwards [illegible] opened a heavy siege of artillery, which still continues. Our heavy guns [illegible] answering [illegible] the breastworks [illegible] out of the [illegible]. No results are yet known, and but little of the infantry have been engaged. A [illegible] on the [illegible] cavalry [illegible] our right. The [illegible] force has [illegible].

WASHINGTON, D. [illegible] 13.—A dispatch from [illegible] last night says that the main body of our army is [illegible] over the river [illegible] being in a position to cross at any time.

The Navy Department has advices from the Gulf squadron [illegible] which gives an account of the capture of the British schooner Maria and [illegible] rebel steamer Castle while attempting to run the blockade off Sabine Pass.

Hampton's cavalry captured a number of officers at Dumfries yesterday, but paroled them.

Later in the day Col. Schimmelfennig with a command of [illegible] met the rebels and a fight ensued. The precise [illegible] extent of which is not yet known.

The gallant act of first crossing the river at Fredericksburg was performed by two companies of the 7th Michigan regiment. A drummer boy ten years old was in the first boat.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Dec. 13th—11 P. M.—The fog began to disappear early in the forenoon, affording an unobstructed view of our own and the rebels' position. It was evident that on the first ridge of hills in the rear of the city the enemy had guns posted behind works which could not be carried except by infantry. Gen. French's division, which was supported by Gen. Howard's troops, advanced to their work at 11 40 on a brisk run. The enemy's guns opened upon them with a very rapid fire, when within musket range at the base of the ridge. The rebel infantry who were posted behind stone walls and some houses on the right of the line checked the advance of our men, and they fell back to a small ravine, but not out of musket range. At this time another body of men moved to their assistance in splendid style, notwithstanding large gaps were made in their ranks by the rebel artillery. When our troops arrived at the first line of rebel defenses they "double quicked," and with fixed bayonets [illegible]; but the concentrated fire of the rebel artillery and infantry was too much for them. The centre gave way in disorder, but was afterwards rallied and brought back. From that time the fire was spiritedly carried on and never ceased until dark.

Gen. Franklin, on our left, met with better success. He succeeded, after a hard day's fight, in driving the rebels about one mile.—At one time they advanced to attack him, but were handsomely repulsed with terrible slaughter and loss of four or five hundred prisoners, belonging to Gen. Hill's division. Gen. Franklin's movements were directed down the river, and his troops encamped not far from Massaponax creek.

Our troops sleep to-night where they fought to-day. The dead and wounded are being carried from the field. Among the officers killed or wounded, are Gen. Jackson, Penn. Reserves, killed; Gen. Bayard died from wound in thigh; Gen. Vinton, wounded; Gen. Gibbons, wounded; Gen. Kimball wounded; Gen. Caldwell wounded; Col. Sinclair, seriously wounded; Capt. Hendricks [illegible] wounded; Col. Cross, N. H. [illegible] wounded; Maj. and Adjutant of same regiment killed.

The musketry firing ceased about 6 o'clock, but the rebels continued to throw shells into the city until night.

The rebel position is as follows: Longstreet on the left, holding main works; Gen. A. P. Hill and Stonewall Jackson in front of Franklin. Jackson's right resting on the Rappahannock, with Hill's force as a reserve. Burnside will renew the battle at daylight. Our troops are in good spirits.

HEADQUARTERS OF ARMY, Dec. 14.—There is no fog to-day. The sun is shining brightly, with a strong breeze at daylight this morning. There was a heavy fire of artillery and infantry in front of the first Federal line of works, where Gens. Sumner and Hooker were engaged yesterday. The fire slacked about an hour afterwards, and was heard only at intervals until now. The same occurred in front of Gen. Franklin's division. The object of both parties is evidently to feel the other. During last night and this morning the rebels considerably strengthened their position and extended their works. Large bodies of troops are now to be seen where few were to be found yesterday. The [illegible] killed yesterday while charging the enemy's works, remain where they fell. While we were attempting to remove them last night, the rebels opened fire with musketry, but the wounded have all been removed from the field. All the dead obtained are now being buried. Indications are that no decisive battle will be fought to-day unless the rebels should bring on an engagement, which they will probably not do.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14th.—Gentlemen in high position report the assertion as coming from Burnside, that he has men enough, and therefore desires no more reinforcements. It is thought here that about 40,000 of our troops were engaged in yesterday's battle. From information received this morning, preparations were making all night for a conflict to-day. Burnside remaining on the field, giving orders and looking to the condition of his troops. Additional surgeons, and everything which the necessities of our wounded may require have been dispatched from Washington. Gen. Meagher was wounded in the leg in yesterday's battle.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14th.—The Herald's Fredericksburg dispatch dated 13th, says it is ascertained beyond doubt that the rebel force is nearly 200,000 strong. Jackson commands their right, extending from Port Royal to Guinea's station. Longstreet has the centre from Guinea's station to the Telegraph road. Lee and Stuart are on the left.

A dispatch from headquarters last night to the Herald, says that Gen. Franklin's line moved forward at sunrise. Shortly afterwards a rebel battery opened on our line and the [illegible] power and [illegible] charge but after a [illegible] were compelled to retire. The remainder of that brigade, under Gen. Tyler, then [illegible] the battery, and the fight became general. On the extreme left the cannonading was terrific, but our troops suffered little from it. Gradually the fight extended around to the right.

About ten o'clock Gen. Sumner's troops engaged the enemy back of the city. The battle raged fiercely until dark. The enemy [illegible] the [illegible] had the [illegible] but were driven back [illegible] right [illegible]. Early [illegible] several hundred prisoners were taken. [illegible] report Lee's whole army in the [illegible].

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this city.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.—Judging by the tone of the hotel-runners of this city, a traveler from the upper Columbia must have a high opinion of the morals of hotel keepers in this place. Commencing by soliciting passengers to go to the various houses which employ them, the spirit of competition soon induces them to bandy terms more harsh than truthful. With the utmost sincerity of manner, the honest miner is assured that the ——— Hotel is a Robbers' Roost. Another, with affectionate solicitude for the miner's comfort, informs him that the beds at the ——— House are infested with vermin. Still another represents to the comer the necessity of looking out for the rest of his companions, as they are not over and above honest. This appears as if each were anxious to serve his employer to the utmost, while in fact they may be doing him an injury. We notice one man, who distributes the cards of the house which employs him in a quiet and unobtrusive way, and he is worth a dozen brawlers. The miners are not usually fools, and judge the character of a house by its representative at the steamer landing. We would suggest the propriety of houses having their cards printed, with the name of a licensed runner on them, and not allow them to get into the hands of any other person. Then, if there are any who break or interfere, let them be stopped. The effect of rough conduct in any class of men, in the streets, is hurtful to the morals of the youth of the city beyond computation. It appears to be the natural proclivity of most boys to follow the worst model.

CAUSE OF DELAY.—The Dalles boat has been so frequently detained of late, that it has excited much inquiry among citizens. We learn that it is consequence of foggy weather on the Columbia, and on the Willamette. There is one point just above Vancouver that is so shallow that it requires good steering for a boat to cross it. This place is important for another cause: it stands slightly in the way of "direct trade" to Dalles. It is one of those natural impediments upon which great [illegible]ises sometimes stick.

SALE OF FURNITURE.—A. B. Richardson, auctioneer, will sell at public sale at ten o'clock this morning, in Vaughn's block, a large and splendid lot of furniture, cheap for cash. See advertisement.

NEW WOOLEN FACTORY.—The citizens of Oregon City have held a preliminary meeting, with a view to organize a company to engage in the manufacture of woolen goods. Messrs. W. C. Dement, L. D. C. Latourette, D. P. Thompson, J. L. Barlow and A. Warner, have been appointed a committee to ascertain the terms upon which the use of the water power at Willamette Falls, and the necessary grounds for the buildings could be obtained, also, to report upon the amount of capital required for the successful establishment of the business. The people of Oregon City have the name of being slow; a reputation which is undeserved. It is true that there is no parade made about public improvements; but in all that pertains to street improvements and really useful enterprises, they are fully up to the times. The names of the gentlemen mentioned in connection with this new undertaking, give us a strong assurance that it will be carried out.

[illegible] Lodge No. 12, F. & A. M.—The annual election of officers will take place this evening. A full attendance is requested.
Dec. 13th 1862. JOHN McCRAKEN, W. M.

Good Medicine.—DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM is the best remedy for Consumption, either in its [illegible] or confirmed stages, ever discovered. For proof of this read the certificates from Physicians, Professors, Clergymen and other well known persons.
General Agents for the Pacific Coast, REDINGTON & CO., 416 and 418 Front street, San Francisco.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them useful for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16dw3m

Hall's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever invented. The principle is new and different from any other. The Pad works over a Knuckle, giving it a circular and UPWARD motion, thus being able to support the rupture with half the pressure required by other Trusses. The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thus avoided. The instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others. They can be worn with pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing.

White's Fever and Ague Drops—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY. This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle has been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville, and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

LADD, WEBSTER & CO'S

FAMILY
SEWING MACHINES ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a TIGHT lock-stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to stitch with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

Facts about the Peninsular Campaign.

The Boston Transcript is a Republican paper of moderate views, and is very guarded in its statements. After blaming both Mr. Lincoln and Gen. McClellan for not providing a reserve corps at the commencement of the Peninsular Campaign, the Transcript, of the 11th of November, says:

The whole defence of Gen. McClellan, semi-officially written for the New York World, by [illegible] Wistar, of Philadelphia, his friend from boyhood, who was with him during the last battles before Richmond, all, rests on an absolutely false assumption which had before gone vaguely to the country and which has remained uncontradicted authoritatively to this hour, because the Government could not, in defending itself, attack its own General. We mean the charge that troops agreed to be a part of General McClellan's Peninsular force were detained from him after he had embarked.

We know that this was utterly false, and we will briefly give the truth. With reference to the expedition to the Peninsula, the President, wisely and of his own motion, by formal written order, prescribed that Washington should be left "absolutely secure," and that General McClellan and the four Generals of army corps should decide what such force should be. By elaborate written reports they decided that 55,000 men were necessary for the immediate defense of Washington, of whom 30,000 were to occupy the defences on the North, and fully man those on the South side of the Potomac, and 25,000 were to operate as a covering force immediately in front of the latter. Before leaving, the General placed General Banks with 35,000 on the line of Winchester and Strasburgh.

He embarked for the Peninsula with 123,000 men, and their armament and supplies, in the most magnificent fleet of transports the world ever saw. From on shipboard he made the unexpected and astonishing request for the whole of McDowell's covering force of 30,000 then outlying, as agreed, the forts opposite Washington, and for eight regiments in addition. The only suggestion he could make of a force to supply their places was some four regiments of undisciplined troops in Pennsylvania. The President asked those in command of the defences of Washington for a detailed report of the number of troops for the defence. By that report it was demonstrated that with the exception of McDowell's covering force there were only 18,000 men, nearly all disorganized regiments rejected by General McClellan, and without a single battery of field artillery; that, if his request were complied with, not all even of these 18,000 men, instead of the agreed 55,000, would be left to hold the defences of Washington, without a man as a covering force between them and Richmond, by way of Gordonsville and Fredericksburgh, and that, therefore, General McClellan had started with 7,000 more men than he was entitled to by written agreement.

The President then referred the whole evidence to two generals, to decide whether, if Gen. McClellan's request were complied with, Washington would be left defended within the terms of the order and agreement, and they of course decided adversely to the request.

From this force of 48,000 men the President, even then, withdrew and sent Gen. McClellan Gen. Franklin's 12,000, leaving 36,000, instead of 55,000 men for the defence of Washington. Such are the authoritative facts, and such is the overwhelming answer to the loose and repeated misstatement, charges and falsehoods of the last six months, which a President, lenient to weakness, and kind only to be cruel, has left unanswered, rather than remove the General of whose incompetency his own mind had cumulative, and convincing proof.

At the last dates from Vicksburg, fresh meat was from forty to fifty cents per pound, and everything else in proportion. Prices are nearly the same throughout all the rebel cities. Of course this thing can't last long. It can't last two months. The rebellion is starving to death. Hunger is already inaugurating anarchy.

That big rascal Humphrey Marshall complains bitterly that in every military movement he is "obstructed" by his superiors in command. As to be obstructed is to be dammed, we suppose we may say of Humphrey (notwithstanding the rather ugly sound of the words) that he is a dammed rascal.

If our fathers didn't intend the Constitution for war times, why didn't they make a pair of Constitutions—one for war and the other for peace?

BOISE MINES.—The Mountaineer, in speaking of the report of a Mr. Tolley respecting the Boise Mines, says:

Mr. T. is sanguine that the Boise mines are the richest that have yet been struck, and says there are fortunes there for thousands of men. Mr. T.'s best day's work in the mines was $17, but there were others who had done much better. In the claim adjoining his they had taken out as much as $17 to the pan. At the time our informant left flour was selling at 40 cents per pound, with a prospect of its going up to $1. Large quantities of provisions had been taken into the mines from Powder river, but it is doubtful whether there will be sufficient to last till spring. The total population on the Boise is estimated at 1,000, and includes a number of families.

THE WAGES OF SIN.—The extract below is an account of the suicide of a dishonest official, copied from the Red Bluff Independent of the 12th inst. We publish it with a hope that the example may not be lost on Government officials:

Thomas Mitchell, late Deputy Postmaster at Lassen's, who was arrested several days ago by U. S. Mail Agent Chas. Watrous, for robbing the mail, committed suicide in the county jail on Monday night last. An inquest was held by Justice Gage, and the following facts elicited: A Mr. Farley, confined in jail, testified that he heard Mitchell groaning, some time after twelve o'clock, and asked him what was the matter. Mitchell replied that it was nothing. An hour or so before daylight he heard him groaning again, and asking for somebody to go for a doctor. Farley told him to wait, that none of the officers of the jail were up. At daylight the jailor came in and found Mitchell dead, and the floor of his cell covered with blood. The physicians testified that he came to his death by severing a vein in his arm with a piece of glass. The remains were conveyed to the cemetery and deposited in the potters field, on Tuesday. Mr. Mitchell was about thirty-two years old, and was either a native of Missouri or Indiana. U. S. Marshal Rand was in Iowa for the purpose of taking the prisoner below on the boat which left Tuesday, but self-destruction cheated the law of its victim.

UP WITH THE PRICES.—The continued advance in printing stock elicits the following from the Philadelphia Press:

We notice that some of our cotemporaries in the New England States, New York, and other parts of the country, have raised the price of their circulation as well as their advertising rates. This action on their part has been rendered necessary by the sudden and enormous increase in the price of paper, the taxation, the increase in labor, and the diminution in the sources of supply. Summing up the results of the great advance in raw materials, we need only say that the copy of the Press, which the reader holds in his hand this morning, costs us more than fifty per cent. of the value of a semi [illegible] copy of the same paper two months ago. We mention these matters without making any allusion to the taxation that has gone into effect, and which must soon be felt by every journal in the land. Something must soon be done to meet this serious change in the business arrangements of the newspaper press. It is right that the people should know these things.
